

UW-Waukesha Distinguished Lecture Series

2000-2001	Jan. 31, 2001	Judy Shepard, mother and LGBT-rights activist The Legacy of Matthew Sheppard
2001-2002	Nov. 7, 2001	Jane Elliot, anti-racism activist and educator Blue Eyes, Brown Eyes
2002-2003	Feb. 5, 2003	Ann Crittenden, author The Price of Motherhood: Why The Most Important Job In The World Is Still The Least Valued
	Mar. 27, 2003	Vince Lombardi Jr., motivational speaker
2003-2004	Apr. 28, 2004	Farooka Gauhari, author Searching for Saleem: An Afghan Woman's Odyssey
2004-2005	Oct. 7, 2004	Dr. Thomas Naylor, author and economist Affluenza: The All-American Bug
	Apr. 21, 2005	Richard Thieme, futurist How to Flex, Fly, and Face the Future: Ad Hoc Tools for Creating Your Life
2005-2006	Oct. 12, 2005	Chris Hedges, journalist and author War is a Force that Gives Us Meaning
2006-2007	Mar. 8, 2007	John Dau, graduate student and activist Lost Boys of Sudan
2007-2008	Mar. 10, 2008	Dr. Robert Kirschner, astronomer The Runaway Universe: Dark Energy Run Amok?
2008-2009	Apr. 28, 2009	Dr. Sean Carroll, geneticist Remarkable Creatures: Epic Adventures in the Search for the Origin of Species
2009-2010	April 8, 2010	Dr. Harvey Kaye, author, historian, and sociologist Thomas Paine and the Promise of America
2010-2011	Apr. 7, 2011	Ruben Bolling, cartoonist Finding Creativity in Your Life and Career
2011-2012	Apr 19, 2012	Dr. Stephanie Coontz, author and historian For Better AND Worse: The Revolution in Love, Marriage, and Family Life
2012-2013	April 11, 2013	Dr. Jay Neitz, professor of ophthalmology and color vision researcher Reweaving the Rainbow
2013-2014		